is made of breathable and lightweight synthetic leather with a textile inner lining. There is some texture visible to break up the upper and give this shoe a more unique appearance. There is a more defined heel cup and upper. The heel feels more in-line with the Max unit. The white upper is worn low Cognitive therapy is the most widely used treatment for eating disorders, but evidence supporting its efficacy is sparse. The aim of this review was to summarize the empirical support for the efficacy of cognitive treatment for eating disorders. Medline and PsycINFO (inception to June 2009) searches were performed. All reports of randomised controlled trials (RCTs) with cognitive psychotherapy as a component of the treatment provided for eating disorders were included.

Randomised or nonrandomised studies were only eligible if they incorporated some elements of a cognitive intervention, for example, self-monitoring, mood reactivity, cognitive restructuring, cognitive biasing, or any other cognitive technique. One single RCT that incorporated cognitive therapy components in the treatment of eating disorders was identified, which showed a significant treatment effect for patients with anorexia nervosa. Cognitive therapy approaches to eating disorders appear to be efficacious for the treatment of anorexia nervosa. However, randomised controlled trials with other eating disorders should be identified, and further research is needed.

I am getting a wrong output using the above code. The output should be 12345678901 But I am getting -2147483647 This is surprising me. Any help would be appreciated.
