and downvoted? I am looking forward to scheduled posts on the new users whose contributions may not attract much attention for a period of time. In the meanwhile, I wish this feature had also been available before. A: That feature will be coming to newly created users (in fact, it's already in place). I suspect you may be thinking of some of the legacy questions and answers. You need to have at least 150 reputation to be able to create a scheduled post. This is done on a per site basis. Stack Overflow is currently the only site for which this feature is enabled. Q: Target selection through targeting magic in Pathfinder I would like to target a creature using a targeting magic, and then target another creature (for example a specific enemy, or my ally) after the first has been brought into range, when I use the same cast action to repeat the same spell. I do not want to use the same spell multiple times, I just want to use the same spell to get in closer to either my ally or my enemy, then repeat the spell to make sure it has the intended effect. I am using the following kind of spell in my campaign at the moment: Kill Zone Ritual Level 1 Psionics Duration: Duration? You create a zone of death around yourself that deals 4d10 damage. Make a ranged weapon attack against a creature in this zone. If the attack hits, it deals 2d10 force damage. You can use this ability again to create a new zone of death. My intention is to create two zones using the above spell, one that covers my ally (and then to create a second zone that

A spinal cord reflex in the rat was examined by means of the transmission of impulse activity in the ventrolateral spinothalamic tract. Small electrical stimuli were applied to the periventricular nucleus of the hypothalamus (PeVN) or the fasciculus gracilis of the spinal cord, and the activities of dorsal root ganglion cells and their characteristic patterns were observed during the stimulation. Afferent and efferent synaptic connections were identified between the PeVN and dorsal root ganglion (DRG) cells. Afferent input was evoked by the periventricular afferents and another class of presynaptic cells in the PeVN d0c515b9f4
