"i try to write a novel as a poet writes a poem. i try to write with the same urgency, the same tenderness and the same poetry, a novel as a musician plays on his instrument, as a sculptor produces a sculpture, and as a painter paints a picture."(m. cartarescu, "necuvând un tel, am vrut sa-i cânt în fața oamenilor". adevărul, 3 dec. 2009.)

cartarescu's main characters are the privileged few, those who understand and have the means to approach the mysteries of life, those whose wealth is made of languages, of books and of a very particular and very complex education, and the ones who live at the opposite extreme, the ones who are not born as the result of a privileged birthright but are born of good fortune or bad fortune, who are born of a lack of education or of an excess of education. cartarescu's protagonists are people who are aware of their fate, their destiny, who have attained knowledge beyond all the material wealth and material power that the world offers to them, and who realize that all the opportunities they can enjoy are but one instant of the eternal journey of their life. the protagonists of cartarescu's novel are people who are the sum of their destiny, of the choices they have made, who have decided that nothing is more important than to know who they are and to try to understand the world in which they live. they are people who have mastered themselves, who have seen and understood their world and who have the will and the courage to live with this knowledge, in order to increase their knowledge and to achieve wisdom. the digital library is based on a new, innovative and intuitive interface. it offers a user-friendly way to search the library, to download books and audiobooks, and to collect them in a private digital collection. the vodafone library is a collaboration between the vodafone foundation and the romanian national audiovisual..
